

Rubric for Core Curriculum Learning Goal
Social science
Core learning goal: Describe the complex relationship of the individual and society

Students should be able to...	4	3	2	1
Criterion A: Analyze the complex relationship between the individual and society.	Demonstrates a sophisticated analysis of the complex interdependence between the individual and society.	Demonstrates adequate analysis of the complex interdependence between the individual and society.	Demonstrates an analysis of the relationship between the individual and society that partially grasps its complexity and interdependence.	Demonstrates an analysis of the relationship between the individual and society that fails to grasp its complexity or interdependence.
Criterion B: Draws conclusions, considers implications and consequences	Conclusions/implications about relationship between individual and society are fully considered, logical, thoughtful, and informed by evidence.	Conclusions/implications about relationship between individual and society are mostly logical, informed by evidence.	Conclusions/implications about relationship between individual and society are partially logical, informed by some evidence.	Few Conclusions/implications about relationship between individual and society are drawn and/or inconsistently tied to evidence.

Analyze = break down into component parts and make connections