Which employers are hiring now? How does one pursue internships/jobs in the “new normal”? What does it mean to work in a “Remote Environment”?

Introducing our newly created Webpage for Remote Support Through COVID-19, designed to provide answers to these questions and more. You will even find notes of inspiration and motivation from alumni and others.

Open Hours: Daily, Monday through Friday between 2 and 3pm. No appointment needed. Email career@ursinus.edu. You can always schedule appointments at other times in Handshake.

Is your furry friend “helping” you with your online classes and other things? We invite you to share a photo of your pet with us to be featured in our upcoming newsletters. Please include pet name and a caption if you like. Email to career@ursinus.edu.

General Career Resources

Layla Correll

Sophomores:

As a sophomore, you are very likely to be in your career exploration phase. This step involves translating your findings about your interests, values and aspirations into a major and possible career. Internships are a great way explore your interests.

Remote internships will be accepted for Summer 2020. Updates have been made to student materials to outline the parameters regarding these remote experiences. Please note that students are able to earn credit for remote internships, but are not required to seek remote experiences, and they can still pursue in-person internships. Virtual environments may cause stress for some students who prefer the structure related to a concrete location and in-person contacts. And some types of experiences may not easily adapt to a virtual setting. In those cases, students can consider internships in fall, winter, or spring. Please reach out to your advisor and CPD to discuss your remote internship options and if interning virtually would be a good fit for you.

Message to graduating seniors from an alumnus

"Some of you will go on to continue your education, some of you will take the first job offer you get, some of you will hold out for that dream job, some of you will find that there are a series of jobs that require you to get experience, so you can interview one day, for that dream job. My 4 years at Ursinus allowed me to prepare for a future that required me to utilize an assortment of skills I acquired during my Ursinus experience, especially relating to folks." – Larry Saunders '70
