UC Green Network Coordinator Position Description

Sustainability Fellows are ambassadors of environmentalism and sustainability to the Ursinus community. Fellows are passionate about work that makes a positive impact on the planet and our communities, as well as their own personal growth and professional development. Through this position, Fellows will develop critical thinking and leadership skills that will assist you in whatever you choose to do after your time at Ursinus.

Like all Sustainability Fellows, UC Green Network Coordinators are expected to participate in a weekly 1-credit course, taught by the Director of Sustainability, participate in First Year Move-In, Sustainable Move-Out, and Office of Sustainability events and projects throughout the semester. Additionally, Fellows meet with the Director of Sustainability one-on-one at least twice a month to discuss project implementation and provide feedback. Fellows who complete all requirements of their position and maintain professionalism are eligible to receive a stipend for each semester that they are in the program, as well as a green cord for graduation.

All Fellowships are two semesters long. The UC Green Network Coordinator Fellowship runs from late August through the end of the spring semester in May, or the length of one academic year.

What Does a UC Green Coordinator Do?

Our UC Green Network Coordinators plan events, activities, and volunteer opportunities for students across campus. Coordinators must be organized, friendly, and enjoy working with other students. This position allows Coordinators to network with staff and students, spread the word about sustainability, and influence campus culture. Careers in fields like education, non-profit work, event planning, team management, and activism all use skills that UC Green Network Coordinators develop!
